We are Working for Whatcom County

Connecting Whatcom County to the World

The Port of Bellingham is a countywide port that operates all of the major transportation terminals for the community. The Bellingham International Airport (BLI) is a 24 hour commercial service non-hub airport serving nearly 375,000 departing passengers annually (pre-pandemic) and offers non-stop destinations by Horizon Airlines, Allegiant Air, Southwest Airlines, and air taxi service from San Juan Airlines. BLI also offers International arrivals customs and immigration clearance for corporate, business and private aircraft and vessels, air cargo services by Alaska, UPS and FedEx, aircraft repair and maintenance facilities, and a large general aviation terminal that provides full-service/self-service aircraft fueling and concierge services.

The Fairhaven Transportation Station connects over 60,000 riders a year to Seattle and Vancouver BC aboard Amtrak and also offers Greyhound Bus service.

The Bellingham Cruise Terminal has weekly car and passenger ferry service to Alaska aboard the Alaska Marine Highway System. This terminal also offers whale watching, charters and sunset baydinner cruises. A tall ship homeports here, offering charter services.

50% of the Port's Economic Impact is Marine Trades

Marine Trades are an Economic Engine

Marine trades are a thriving and growing part of our economy. The port supports this economic sector through reduced moorage rates for active commercial fishermen, free short-term moorage to visiting vessels who are here for repairs and improvements and a comprehensive regional marketing and promotion of these businesses.

The port also operates Squalicum Harbor and Blaine Harbor, with 2,000 moorage slips; several public boat launches and a Shipping Terminal. Our harbors offer full services and include thriving boat yards for repairs and maintenance.

We also have over 250 businesses operating on port property and these include many marine trades businesses.

Bellingham Shipping Terminal

The Port of Bellingham — In 2013 the Port of Bellingham more than doubled the available upland at the Bellingham Shipping Terminal. With this expansion, customers now have about 35 acres of upland for lay-down, construction, fabrication, staging or other Shipping Terminal customer needs. This upland area includes warehouse space. Bringing this available land into productive use is a high Port priority.

This increase in acreage was made possible by the 2005 purchase of the former GP pulp and paper mill. The 137 acres of waterfront property is undergoing an environmental cleanup and redevelopment in partnership with the City of Bellingham and the State Department of Ecology. These efforts have proceeded to the point that this additional property is now able to be put back on the market. The Port has a long history of shipping, primarily aluminum and forest products. Customers will find the terminal is versatile, adaptable, and resourceful with plenty of room to grow, and that Bellingham is the ideal location for your marine business.
